Introduction

This report begins with John Wales of Idle, Yorkshire, England and follows the line of his son Nathaniel who emigrated to New England and later died in Boston in 1661 This is not a complete listing of all descendants of Nathaniel Wales. The twentieth century data concerns mostly descendants of the family of Horatio Wales (1810-1890) who moved from Massachusetts to Illinois in 1836. There is much information on siblings of these ancestors, and often data on children, grandchildren and sometimes great-grandchildren of these siblings.

This report owes a lot to the genealogical work of Marion Wales (number 667, 1867-1960), a granddaughter of this Horatio Wales. She apparently was mainly interested in her direct lines of ancestry. She traced back many families who had married into her line. This research led her to travel to many places, including England. When failing eyesight and declining health made it impossible for her to continue with genealogy, she sent some genealogical material to her cousin, my aunt, Helen Wales Swanson (number 676) in 1955. The items included an old handwritten record book of the Williams and Hopkins families, which had gradually evolved into a record of the Wales family. Marion Wales also sent a large handwritten notebook containing what she had written about many of her ancestral lines, and an 1879 book on the history of Brimfield, MA.

In 1955 or early 1956 Helen Swanson loaned this material to her brother Horatio Wales (number 674) who was my father. This started my interest in genealogy. At that time (an era when it was not easy to copy material, a great contrast to today) I typed a copy of the handwritten notebook of Marion Wales. The part on the Wales family alone filled 18 typed pages. Her early information obviously came from The Redington and Wales Families[1] being nearly identical to this book. Unfortunately she seldom cited information sources. The Brimfield history book[16] included genealogy as well as history of the town and that area. I typed 10 pages mostly about the town in its early days, and the Williams family. Nehemiah Williams was the third pastor of the church in Brimfield. His granddaughter Mary Eliza Williams married Horatio Wales (number 370). The record book of the Williams and Hopkins families was done in a graphical style that could not be reproduced by typing without greatly changing its form. So I hand-copied this old book into another bound book. This old record book is described in detail in the Appendix, because of its importance to the Wales descendants in Illinois.

Since getting this material I have looked up my family in various sources. Many of these that involve the Wales family are given in the references. In addition I started getting information from relatives about their families, starting in the 1950's. A more recent source was a lot of information sent to me by Carole Wales Massie in 1985. She sometimes cited sources at the end of a section, but usually I could not tell for certain the source of facts for a particular family. Her information was quite useful, being my only source for some of the Wales families.

Over a long period I entered a lot of genealogical information into the computer program Reunion 4.0. The charts were drawn using this program and the original form of this report was generated by this program. That original report was greatly expanded by adding nearly a hundred new names and material that had not been entered into the computer program. The text was also edited considerably. So what this book now contains has become quite different from the original computer printout. These changes required renumbering almost everyone in the text and adding names and changing numbers in the index. I did this renumbering manually, and hope there are no errors.

Numbering and Format of This Genealogy

People are numbered consecutively in this report. If there are additional facts on a child then the number and name of the child are given in bold type like this. The use of bold type for a child is an indication that the same number and name will appear in the next generation. The name of a child who is in the line of direct ancestry to Horatio Wales (1810-1895) who moved to Illinois in 1836 is given in BOLD CAPITAL LETTERS the first time that the name appears.

At the end of this report are an appendix, a list of references, and an index. There are 1262 individuals listed in this index. These include 793 descendants of John Wales (492 having the last name of Wales) and 469 names of people who married into the family. People who married into the family are not given numbers but are listed in the index as "spouse of" followed by the number of the spouse. Parents of people who married into the family are not listed in the index.

Second Generation

2. NATHANIEL WALES. Son of John Wales and Margaret. Born probably 1585 or 1586 in Idle, Yorkshire, England. Baptism Feb 26, 1586 in Idle, Calverly Parish, Yorkshire, England. Died Dec 4, 1661 in Boston, Mass. Occupation shipwright, weaver and webster. Nathaniel Wales was a member of St. Wilfred Church, Calverly parish. He inherited houses, lands, and leases from his father. He disposed of them and sailed from Bristol, England on the James, Capt. Taylor, master, on May 23, 1635. His three sons Timothy, John and Nathaniel were on the ship with him. The ship returned due to a severe westerly storm.

On June 4, 1635 the ship set sail again and arrived in Boston on August 17, 1635. Also on the ship was Rev. Richard Mather and probably Humphrey Atherton who later became a Major General. Nathaniel Wales is mentioned in the Journal of Richard Mather. Details of the journey are printed in Young's Chronicles of Massachusetts.

Nathaniel Wales and Humphrey Atherton assisted Rev. Mather in helping the first church of Dorchester to become established. Nathaniel Wales became a freeman of Massachusetts and a member of the body politic on Nov. 2, 1637. He moved to Boston about 1649, joining the church there March 3, 1651 with his second wife Susanna. He was a shipwright by trade. In his will dated June 20, 1661 he was described as Nathaniel Wales, senior, of Boston, weaver. He owned a house and land in Boston, and land in Dorchester. He left a substantial estate for that period.[1]

He left his house and land in Boston to his loving wife for her life. She was to keep the house in repair and pay ten shillings a year rent to his sons, five to Timothy Wales and two shillings six pence each to John and Nathaniel. After her death the house and land was to be divided half to Timothy and the other half divided equally between John and Nathaniel. His grandchild Timothy Wales (son of Timothy) was to be equal sharer with his father in this house. Concerning his land in Dorchester on the southeast side of the Naponset River, his son Timothy was to receive 30 acres and Nathaniel 20 acres. He had already given John equivalent land. For the remainder of his movable estate, half went to his wife, she having been helpful and loving to him in his old age. The other half was divided among his three sons with Timothy having a double portion. His two servant maids Prisilla and Sara were to receive £5 5s apiece when their time was out. His loving wife was to be executor of the will and his loving brother-in-law Humphrey Atherton his overseer. The will was dated 20. 4 mo. 1661 and witnessed by Humphrey Atherton. There was an added part dated 3:10:61 signed by two other men, saying the will was read to Nathaniel Wales senior because the Honored Major Humphrey Atherton the only witness to it was dead and Nathaniel Wales wanted to confirm the will. He added that his wife should also receive the bed in the Little Chamber with the furniture thereto. Nathaniel Wales senior signed with a mark, X.

He first married Issabell, whose family name was likely Bullock or Atherton. His wife died two weeks after they arrived in America. Major General Humphrey Atherton was brother-in-law to Nathaniel Wales so it is presumed that Nathaniel Wales married a sister of Humphrey Atherton. Or perhaps Nathaniel Wales had a sister Mary who was the Mary Wales that married Humphrey Atherton But the will of number 1 John Wales[1] mentions no such daughter, and this Mary Wales is supposed to have been born in Lancashire in 1613, while John Wales lived in Yorkshire and died in 1610. Since a daughter of Humphrey Atherton married a son of Nathaniel Wales (see number 16 in the Third Generation) perhaps this marriage was the reason for them being called brothers-in-law. Nathaniel Wales is referred to as "brother Wales" by Edward Bullock of Dorchester, so he may have married Edward Bullock's sister.[1]

They had the following children:

12 i. Sarah Wales. Born in Idle, Yorkshire, England. Baptism Dec 28, 1613 in Calverly Parish, Idle, Yorkshire, England.

13 ii. TIMOTHY WALES

14 iii. Anna Wales. Baptism Nov 28, 1618 in Calverly Parish, Idle, Yorkshire, England.

15 iv. John Wales

16 v. Nathaniel Wales

17 vi. ? Priscilla Wales. Born ca. 1625. There is doubt whether she is in this family.

He second married Susanna Greenway, daughter of John Greenway & Mary, before Feb 5, 1650. Born about 1584.

3. Elkanah Wales, Rev. Son of John Wales and Margaret. Born in Idle, Yorkshire, England. Baptism Dec 15, 1588 in Calverly, Yorkshire, England. Died May 11, 1669 in Leeds, England. Buried in Choir of St. John's Church, Leeds.[1] Occupation Minister. Education Trinity College, Cambridge B.A. 1608, M.A. 1609. (Reference 1 says M.A. 1613).

He accepted the "poor curacy" of Pudsey in his native parish in 1614 and became Vicar of Calverly Dec. 23, 1615. By 1648 he was one of the most prominent promoters of Congregationalism in the West Riding of Yorkshire. His evangelical teaching drew great multitudes. He turned down invitations to more important places including Carlisle, Rufford, New England, Newcastle and Leeds. The non-conformist diarist Oliver Hayward stated that in his later years Elkanah Wales had to bear a wife's uncomfortable tongue, referring to his second wife. The Black Bartholemew Act silenced his voice in the Pudsey Hill chapel. He then preached privately until the Five Mile Act of 1666 forced him to leave, in his old age. He became the assistant of Rev. Mr. Todd of Leeds, and soon died.

Elkanah Wales published A Short Catechism, or y^e^ errors of the Christian Religion in 34 questions and answers by "Elk. Wales, minister of the Gospel at Pudsey in Yorkshire, London," 1652. He published an 8vo tract entitled (using original spelling) A Writ of error, or a Ffriendly examination of a question deeply concerning Marryed persons or such as intend to marry by E. W. [Elk. Wales, York, 1654]. He also wrote Mount Ebal Levelled, or Redemption from the Curse by "Elkanah Wales, M.A., preacher of the Gospel, at Pudsey, in Yorkshire, London 1659." This last work was his greatest, and was dedicated to the Right Honorable Thomas Fairfax, who regarded Elkanah Wales with high esteem. A Memoir of Elkanah Wales, written by the Rev. James Sale or Sales is preserved among the Thoresby manuscripts in the British Museum.

He first married Ann Parker, Jun 13, 1616 in Leeds, England. Buried May 18,

1660 in Pudsey, Yorkshire, England. He second married Elizabeth Clavering. She was from Caliley in Northumberland. She was widow of Thomas Butler, a Newcastle merchant.[1]

4. Samuel Wales, Rev. Son of John Wales and Margaret. Born about 1590. Died 1626 in Morley, in Calverly, Yorkshire, Eng. Occupation, Puritan Minister at Old Chapel Morley. Rev. Samuel Wales was an earnest and zealous Puritan. A work published posthumously in 1627 was entitled Totum Homines; or, The Whole Duty of a Christian; Consisting of Faith and a Good Life by "the late Reverend and Worthy Mr. Samuel Wales, Minister of the Gospel in Morley." He was an intimate friend of Lord Wharton who, with his brother Sir Phillip Wharton, issued a second edition of this work in 1681 for the benefit of their children and grandchildren.[1]

Children:

18 i. Samuel Wales. Born perhaps Oct 14, 1609. (Reference 1 says Oct. 14, 1690 which obviously is an error). Buried Aug 15, 1638. Education University College, Cambridge Apr 23, 1638.

19 ii. John Wales. Born 1621/1622. Matriculated Trinity College Cambridge July 6 1638, aged 17.

20 iii. Nehemiah Wales.

21 iv. Elkanah Wales. Buried Mar 10, 1635 in Calvary, Idle, Yorkshire, Eng.

11. Benjamin Wales. Son of John Wales and his second wife _____. Baptized Oct 27, 1605. Died before Apr 1669. His children include:[1]

22 i. Rosamond Wales. She married Jeremy Bower.

Third Generation

13. TIMOTHY WALES. Son of Nathaniel Wales and probably Issabell Bullock or Atherton. Born in Idle, Yorkshire, England. Baptism Nov 5, 1616 in St. Wilfred's, Calverly Parish, Idle, Yorkshire.[1] Or baptized Nov 15, 1616.[2] Died before Mar 31, 1690 in Milton, MA.

He accompanied his father to Boston on the ship James of Bristol. He inherited half of his father's lands in Dorchester, MA. He resided there at Unquety or Uncataqissett, which on May 7, 1662 was established as Milton, MA. His home was on the south side of the Neponset River. This was a considerable distance from the public school on Rocky Hill. On Jan. 8, 1671 Timothy Wales, his wife and their "two lesser boys," as well as four other families, were summoned before the Selectmen of Dorchester to explain why their children were not attending school. It is likely that Timothy Wales resented this interference because the Selectmen considered his answers "offensive and contemptuous of them." He was required to appear again. This time he made some amends for his previous remarks. Having been properly admonished, the sons were then dismissed. Reference 1 cites the Town Records of Dorchester as its source here.

There are no public records that he married more than once. The statement of William Howe Whittemore[3] that is regarded as family tradition by Cornelia M. Redington Carter[1], but she mentions there were repeated statements about it. The History of Milton gives a quotation from the diary of Col. Samuel Pierce mentioning "Madam Wails who Comes to Town and makes the Selectmen to hop round" which could refer to a clamorous wife. After his death the inventory of the estate of Timothy Wales taken Mar 31, 1690 included the house and 15 acres, 16 acres at Squantom Neck, one fourth of a house and lands at Boston, besides salt and fresh meadows.

> "Timothy Wales of Milton, was eminently pious and in the latter part of his life married a second wife, but she was so clamorous and uncomfortable, that he built a cave in the woods, where he lived alone for a number of years and died aged 80."

A record which seems to involve this Timothy and an unnamed daughter says:

> "Among those owning the Covenant in Dorchester 22-8-1682 was the wife of Joseph Birch ye last of thes ye Elder said yt her father had been sent unto to own ye Covenant and he said he was willing to doe wt was needfull but as yet he has not don it but his daughter did as ye rest owne ye Covenant her fathers name is Timothy Wales the son of Goodman Wales her grandfather he was a member but not her Immediat parent."

If this is the same Timothy he did not seem too pious here. The name of his wife is not known. Information about his children is sketchy, so it is possible he also had one or more daughters in addition to the sons listed below. His children include:

23 i. Timothy Wales

24 ii. Eleazer Wales Born Dec 25, 1657. Served under Cap. John Withington in the 1690 Canada Expedition.

25 iii. NATHANIEL WALES

15. John Wales. Son of Nathaniel Wales and Issabell Bullock or Atherton. Born in Idle, Yorkshire, England. Baptism Oct 18, 1620 in Calverly, Yorkshire, Eng. Buried Oct 17, 1707 in Dorchester, MA.

He sailed from Bristol, England, with his father and arrived in Boston Aug. 17, 1635. He settled in Dorchester, MA in that part known as Captain's Neck near the creek later called Wales Creek. Shortly after his death Dorchester built a wharf at this creek and laid out a street (its name in 1909 was Creek Street) running east from Pleasant St. He held many town offices. In June 1677 he petitioned the General Court of the Colony to be made a freeman or member of the body politic, describing himself as John Wales senior, a member of the Church of Christ in Dorchester. He became a freeman on Oct. 10, 1677.[1]

He married Elizabeth ____. Born About 1622. Died Nov 26, 1701 in Dorchester, MA. They had the following children:

26 i. John Wales. Born about 1654 in Dorchester, MA. Died Jun 18, 1683 in Dorchester, MA.

27 ii. Hannah Wales

28 iii. Content Wales. Born May 14, 1659 in Dorchester, MA. She married John Mason, Oct 15, 1679. Died Mar 18, 1683. He came from Dorchester, MA.

29 iv. Elizabeth Wales. Born Jul 1, 1662. Died Jun 30, 1673.

30 v. Elkanah Wales. Born Jun 16 or Apr 16, 1665 in Dorchester, MA. Died Aug 15, 1689 in Dorchester, MA.

Perhaps John Wales married second _____ Bullock b. ca. 1622.

16. Nathaniel Wales. Son of Nathaniel Wales and Issabell Bullock or Atherton. Born in Idle, Yorkshire, England. Baptism Apr 18, 1623 in Calvary, Yorkshire, Eng. Died May 20, 1662 in Boston, MA. He sailed from Bristol, England with his father and brothers and arrived in Boston Aug. 17, 1635. Apparently he was, at least partly, of the faith of the Church of England since a Robert Jordan or Jourdain, a priest of the Church of England, baptized three children of Nathaniel Wales in July 1660 in the town of Falmouth. This was illegal in the colony. In his will dated two days before his death he called himself a ship-carpenter of Boston.[1]

He married Isabel Atherton, daughter of Major General Humphrey Atherton and Mary Wales. Born Jan 23, 1630 in Winwick, Lancashire, England. Died Dec 18, 1661 in Boston, MA. (Her mother Mary Wales was born about 1613 in Winwick, and died in 1672. Some have speculated that Mary Wales was a sister of number 2 Nathaniel Wales. This cannot be true if the birth date and place given for her are correct.) Isabel Atherton may have later married Timothy Mather, born about 1630. Nathaniel Wales and Isabel Atherton had the following children:[1]

31 i. Nathaniel Wales, Elder

32 ii. Samuel Wales

33 iii. Jonathan Wales

34 iv. Mary Wales. Born Feb 9, 1658 in Boston, MA. She married Nicholas George, Jun 4, 1684.

20. Nehemiah Wales. Son of Samuel Wales, Rev. Died Before 1669. He married Elizabeth ____. She married second Thomas Sewell. Nehemiah Wales and Elizabeth had the following children:[1]

35 i. Samuel Wales
36 ii. Constantia Wales
37 iii. Elizabeth Wales

Fourth Generation

23. Timothy Wales. Son of Timothy Wales. Born 1651 in Dorchester, MA. Died Feb 21, 1722 in Boston, MA. Name of first wife is unknown. He served in Capt. Samuel Mosley's company in King Phillip's War in Dec. 1675. He was probably the man who took the oath of allegiance at Hatfield, MA in 1678. At the time of his death there were no surviving children.[1]

He married second Sarah Wright. Born about 1669. Died May 8, 1726. Buried in Copp's Hill Burial Ground. He bequeathed land to Samuel Wright of Concord and to Martha wife of Israel Hale of Stowe.

> "in order to procure intelligence of the measures that might be adopted by them respecting the common cause of the British Colonies."

He was deacon at the first church of Windham. In May 1738 he became Judge of the County Courts, and was recommissioned annually until 1772. He represented Windham in the General Court of Connecticut in 1739, 1744 and 1745.

About 1750 he moved to what was then known as the Union Lands in Windham. In 1786 Tolland County was formed from various towns in Windham and Hartford Counties. Union became the most north-eastern township in Tolland County. Ebenezer Wales was a Selectman in Union in 1759 and 1763. When the Rev. Ezra Horton was ordained pastor of the Church in Union on June 14, 1759 the members that were already in the church included Ebenezer Wales, his wife Deborah and Elisha, a son by his first marriage.[1] The facts for this family come mostly from References (3 and 1).

Ebenezer Wales was noted for his piety, intellectual ability and deep sensibility. This is proved by the manuscript he left which was printed many years later as The Counsels and Directions of Ebenezer Wales Esq. to His Children. The History of Union says these Counsels were in manuscript form for 76 years before being published in 1813 almost 40 years after his death. They were reprinted again in 1875 in Reference (3) and in 1909 in Reference (1).

He second married Oct 13, 1741 either Deborah Wood[1, 3] or Deborah Ward.[4] Marion Wales (number 661) listed Deborah Ward as born Jan 15, 1714/1715 in probably Marlborough (Northborough), MA, daughter of Oliver Ward and Hannah Brigham. She died Mar 13, 1779 in Union, CT and was buried in the Old Cemetery, Union, CT. Deborah (Wood or Ward) Wales is said[1, 3, 4] to have been a woman of great patriotism and resolution. When two sons of her stepson Solomon Wales were responding to the Lexington Alarm, she said "I would not send my boys where I dare not go myself." Solomon Wales then entered the army also.

The first four children of this marriage were recorded at Windham, CT. The others were probably born in Union. They had the following children:[1, 3]

The general had a son Atherton Wales born Portsmouth RI 1806 who became a deacon. If this is true, his wife Mary Niles must have died long before the 1792 date given for her here, and Atherton Wales (number 188) must have died. Or perhaps May Niles was mother of only the first two or three children listed above.

On Aug. 7, 1777 he became Captain of the 1st Co. of the Alarm List, 5th Regiment of the Connecticut Militia.[1]

This Nathaniel Wales may be the Nathaniel Wales who is mentioned in the History of Windham as serving in the French and Indian War. He served in the Revolution on the Committee of Correspondence, as delegate to the 1776 conference called by the Commander in Chief to regulate quota of state. He was captain of the company for home defense. He was surgeon for Windham County 1779.[8]

104. Elisha Wales, Capt. Son of Ebenezer Wales and Esther Smith . Born Mar 10 or 18, 1728 in Windham, CT. Died Apr 6, 1788 in Union, CT. He probably moved to Union with his father Ebenezer Wales. About 1760 Elisha Wales and family moved to Ashford, a town adjoining Windham. He was one of the patentees of the township of Norwich, VT, whose charter caused much controversy between New York and New Hampshire. His brother Dr. Eleazer Wales was moderator, and brothers Seth and Solomon and their father Ebenezer Wales were also patentees. The town was organized Aug. 21, 1761 at Mansfield. It is doubtful if any of the family ever settled there even temporarily. Family tradition says he served in the French and Indian Wars in 1745.

In 1763 he was commissioned Captain of the 12th Company 5th Regiment of Connecticut Colonial Forces. When conditions between the colonies and Britain became strained by the Stamp Act and a tax on tea, he was one of five appointed Dec. 14, 1769 to a committee in Ashford to correspond with other committees and to encourage manufacturing and industry. He was also one of three chosen to enforce the non-importation agreement in Ashford (a retaliation against the Stamp Act). They were to see that merchants, shopkeepers and peddlers did not deal in anything imported. In 1776 he represented Ashford in the General Assembly of Connecticut. Shortly after this he moved back to Union, CT.[1]

105. Solomon Wales, Capt. Son of Ebenezer Wales and Esther Smith. Born Nov 19, 1729 in Windham, CT. Died Mar 20, 1805.[1] Occupation farmer.

Solomon Wales and his son John served in the Revolution, in Company 5, 22nd Reg. Connecticut Militia, commanded by Col. Samuel Chapman (papers dated Union, June 30, 1780). Solomon Wales Esq. 15 months (probably enlistment length). "Those that was drafted for two months, Solomon Wales, captain, to New London for two months 1777." Died Mar 23, 1816 in South Brimfield (Wales), MA.[3] Buried in the old cemetery at Wales, MA. He left Union, CT and came to South Brimfield, MA in 1766.[11, 12] In 1778 he exchanged farms with his brother Elijah in Union, and went back to Union again.[11]

He was in the militia in Union, and was called a private Oct. 2, 1780 and May 5, 1783.[13] He was among the persons taking the Oath of Fidelity April 9, 1781 in Union.[14] At a town meeting May 7, 1781 Nathaniel Abbott and Oliver Wales were chosen a Committee to Provide Provisions for the soldiers' families in the Continental Army, and on April 22, 1782 Oliver Wales was chosen a Collector for the State Man (?) in Esq. Wales class for the present year.[14] In 1787 Oliver and his brother Elijah again exchanged farms and Oliver Wales returned to South Brimfield.[11] The following from the History of Wales describes him in the unusually florid and highly opinionated style of this book.

> "His homestead, which is made the subject of reference with much frequentness in this record, bearing the appelation of Oliver Wales Tavern Stand, was in the central village, west side of the main street, and mostly upon the south side of, and contiguously to the road leading west from the central part of said street. He there kept a tavern nearly all the time of his living here: and in that, and his agriculture pursuits interlarded, he secured an amassment of a large estate for a small place like this. His old tavern house still stands, weather-tinted and fast dilapidating, whereby we are reminded of the many hogsheads, pipes, and tuns of liquor there consumed in bygone times, and made to think of the high-filled heaps of dollars which that liquor did in turn consume, the evanescent, half bewildering delights sometimes, the crazed, disenthroned intellects at other times, by that liquor caused in the sequel! But enough of this.

He was a good tavern-keeper for his time, and excellent farmer. No moonshine about his intellect, sound judgment, and in his day a very prominent personage in the town.

Though much of the land of this "stand" had long before the time of Mr. Wales been disrobed of its timber, and much cleared of its stumpy rooty annoyances, and its fallow-ground sown, reaped and mown, yet he was first in signalizing it as a farm-stead. He made it very rewardally productive It has since degenerated from the ineffaciousness and deteriority of its late-year's culture"[11]

Oliver Wales was town treasurer 1790-1792 and 1797-1798. He was town clerk 1791-1803, Selectman 1799, 1804, and Representative 1800 and 1801.[12] He may have been postmaster of the town about 1800.[12]

He first married Elizabeth Lawrence, daughter of James Lawrence, M.D. and Elizabeth Haynes, Mar 22, 1767 in South Brimfield, MA.[9] Born Oct 27, 1751 in Brimfield, MA. Died Jan 2, 1790 in South Brimfield (Wales), MA. Buried in old cemetery at Wales, MA. They had the following children:[9]

The History of Wales described Shubal (or Shubel as it was also spelled), in its usual flowery and opinionated language, as follows:

> "It is far from our desire to saught and belittle Uncle Shubel, as he was familiarly called, and we incur no recreancy in penning a phrase assertive of the fact that he was not accounted as being very store minded, sagacious, or shrewd: his intellect was of the moonshiny order, silvery, smooth, bland, he was moderately agile and dexterous, but not energetic or forcible: never accumulated much property: never was a hard worker, and always contented. Quiet, cheerful apparently untroubled, was a good lad to chore about and do light work, and like the little busy bee, would be ever humming about over some note or ditty in his monotonous but care-defying tone. His moral character was just as uncurst of evil, just as clear untaintedness of wrong, and as completely meriting every person's approbation, as could easily be found anywhere connected with our frail humanity."[11]

He married Lois Moulton, May 31, 1780. Note that the order of their six children as listed below is not certain because the dates for Shubel and Betsey are doubtful. Shubel may have been the second child and Danford the third. Perhaps Betsey was the fourth, Dorcas the fifth and Lois the sixth.

> "During many of his later years he was, perhaps the most prominent inhabitant of the town....James L. Wales Esq. was emphatically a peace-maker always, with zeal and earnestness, striveing to hush up difficulties, and reconcile and concilitate belligerent parties, among his neighbors and townsmen. His integrity, his uprightness, were entirely above suspicion always. In his whole moral being, dishonesty did not weave a single filament."[11]

He left South Brimfield $2000 at his death. On learning his intention of leaving the legacy, in 1827 the town changed its name to Wales in his honor.

245. ROYAL WALES. Son of Oliver Wales and Elizabeth Lawrence. Born Sep 30, 1773 in South Brimfield (now Wales), MA. Died Aug 30, 1857 in Wales, MA.[11, 16] Buried in the old cemetery at Wales, MA. Royal Wales was a trader and merchant in South Brimfield, MA. He was chosen representative to the legislature from the joint district of South Brimfield and Holland, MA in 1810 and 1811.[12] Hampden County was organized in 1812. It included Brimfield and South Brimfield. Royal Wales was representative again in 1813. In 1815 he moved to Coventry, CT[11] where he stayed for about 15 years and was elected to some offices. In about 1830 he moved to Brimfield.[16] He was a Selectman of Brimfield in 1832 and 1833.[16] He was a town representative in 1833 and 1837.[16] The population of Brimfield reached a peak of 1612 in 1820, was 1599 in 1830 and 1419 in 1840 as many, including his son Horatio Wales, moved west.

The History of Wales gives the following information about Royal Wales:

> "Before leaving here he was a trader, a merchant in the place and had his residence upon the premises designated as the "Souls Place" of course occupying the old house which was then there, but which has since given evidence of its destructibleness. Upon his return hither in 1838, he purchased, and thereafter abode upon, the premises which in this record, that they may be remindful of him, we call the "Royal Wales Place" and which are situated upon the west side of the main street in the central village, immediately north of the brook which runs from the Wales Pond. Prior to him, his brother, Capt. Oliver Wales, owned and occupied these premises...[erecting] the stately brick mansion now upon the premises, but debts and other difficulties appearing to embarrass Capt. Wales, he sold out to his brother who afterward occupied and died upon the place.
> "Royal Wales was a man of strong mind, sound judgement, honest intentions, straightforward and undeviating in a course of moral rectitude. He was not a man of many words, never a brawler or wrangler but sedate, thoughtful, peaceful, one whom small matters would never ruffle or impassionate. An appreciation of his merits and capacities by the people in his different places of abode was evincibly seen in this threefold election to represent the town of Brimfield, while living there, in our state legislature, in Coventry, Brimfield, and his last term of residence in this town. Farming was his principal employment, ingrossing his chief attention. In his "Last Will" he made the munificent bequest of five hundred dollars to the Baptist Society of the town.
> "At the time of his death he was the wealthiest man in our town, worth some $25,000, or more perhaps, acquired by his industry, enterprises and economy in his young years, and the augmentations of his careful and judicious management of his affairs in after-life. He never lost much property by leakages in his calculations–never misapplied his means."

He first married Palace Coddington, daughter of Rev. Elijah Coddington (pastor of the Baptist church for 53 years beginning 1773)[12] Oct 31, 1796. (Her name has also been given as Patience.) Born Sep 8, 1777. Died Jan 14, 1803. Buried in old cemetery at Wales, MA. Royal Wales and Palace Coddington had the following children:[11, 16]

366 i. Sally Wales. Born Jan 22, 1797. Reference (11) says that she died in childhood. An unverified source says she married Josiah Brown.

367 ii. Eliza Wales. Born Apr 10, 1801. She married Ebenezer Robinson, Rev., May 16, 1825.

Royal Wales married second Ruby Porter, daughter of Jonathan Porter Jr., Deacon, and Lydia Williams, May 27 or May 8, 1805. Born Aug 20, 1774 in North

Coventry, CT. Died Mar 14, 1812 in South Brimfield, MA. Buried in old cemetery at Wales, MA. Her name is listed as "Reuber" in the printed version of Coventry birth records, probably a misreading of handwriting. She is given as Ruby in References (11) and (16). She had first married John Bliss (see number 258) a cousin of Royal Wales. Both of her husbands were grandchildren of Ebenezer Wales (number 40). Royal Wales and Ruby Porter Bliss had the following children:

368 i. Royal Porter Wales

369 ii. James Lawrence Wales. Born Jul 20, 1808. Died Aug 27, 1808. Buried in old cemetery at Wales, MA.

248. Oliver Wales, Capt. Son of Oliver Wales and Elizabeth Lawrence. Born Aug 8, 1779 probably in Union, CT. Died Sep 26, 1855 in Indiana. In 1828 or 1829 he erected a building for the manufacture of woolen cloth. He was a Selectman of Sourth Brimfield in 1836.[12]

Capt. Oliver Wales was well-off for a time. But he engaged with a Mr. Tiffany (perhaps his brother-in-law or father-in-law) and others in manufacturing gas. When this project failed he lost much of his property. Because of his debts he sold his stately brick mansion in Wales, MA. to his brother Royal in 1838. He then went to Iowa for a while, returned to the area of Wales, and finally went to Indiana where he died.

> "His wisdom and sagacity were never clearly obvious nor greatly appraisable. His moral character never encountered but little human disapprobation."[11]

He first married Lydia Turner Nov 27, 1800. Born 1778/1779. Died Oct 17, 1814 age 35. Buried in old cemetery at Wales, MA. They had the following children:[9]

"He was not reckoned quite as smart as some of his brothers, was a little voluptuously inclined to an imbriation of alcoholic liquids and to unsteadiness, in his early years. After going west he was very steady and respectable and thus atoned from his pre-existent follies. His wife Ann was a fine woman."

He married Ann or Anna Gardner or Garner. He married a second time while in Attica. There is a chance some of the children listed below were from the second marriage, since the date of that marriage is not known. Roswell Wales had the following children:

381 i. Joaish Gardner (or Garner) Wales. He married Ann Underwood.
382 ii. Louisa Wales. Born 1807. Died Aug 27, 1846.

Selectman in South Brimfield 1824.[11] In 1825 the family moved from South Brimfield (Wales) to Southbridge. Soon after this he went to New York City. He tried speculating in notes and discounted obligations but soon lost his money. Then he moved to St. Louis. After a while he and his sons got a good merchandising business in St. Louis.[11]

He married Mary Tiffany, Feb 5, 1815. She died in St. Louis, MO. They had the following children:[9]

393 v. Catherine Hyde Wales. Born Sep 25, 1831. Died Jan 4, 1919. She married Joseph C. Cabot.

Personal communications from Janine Paul of Louisville, KY supply some information that may involve this family. She is descended from James Wallace Wales. This James W. Wales was listed in the 1850 census of Louisville as age 27, born in NY. His daughter entered a religious order and her file says he was born in Newport, RI. James Wales is listed as a clerk in the 1844-1845 City Directory of Louisville. On Apr 16, 1849 he married Mary A. Shain Wilson, widow of William A. Wilson. When James W. Wales was not in town to receive a summons it was delivered to Orrin Wales in Nov 1856, but no relationship was listed for Orrin Wales.

Janine Paul also found that there was also a Dexter Wales (perhaps number 390) in Louisville, KY for a time. In 1844 Dexter married Caroline Beckwith, daughter of Mannasseh Beckwith. Dexter Wales was not in the 1850 census, but by 1851 he was in St. Louis. A James R. Wales (perhaps number 392) died Sep 17, 1846 age 23 and was buried in Christ Church Episcopal Cemetery, St. Louis, MO.

255. Loren or Loring Wales. Son of Oliver Wales and Martha Hyde. Born Nov 26, 1797 in probably South Brimfield, now Wales, MA. Died about 1838-1839. He lived in South Brimfield MA most of his life. For many years he kept an inn where his father had earlier kept a tavern. The History of Wales[11] said Loren had been left a pretty estate by his father but it was gradually lost through unthrifty habits, and apparently was lost also in the way he ran the inn. He was in danger of injuring himself from over drinking. In 1838 he left for the west with his family. Before they could get a permanent home he, his wife, and at least one child became sick and died.

He married Mary Hasset. Died perhaps 1838. They had the following children:[9]

Dr. Charles Steele Thomson married second Susan Chapin Belcher of Granby, MA. She raised the children of his first marriage as well as her own children.[3] (It is unusual that a child and its stepmother have the same names, as seemed to have happened with number 532 above. One must assume that Williams Howe Whittemore (number 361) knew the names of his own sister's children when he wrote his genealogy.[3] Child 532 may have been named after a close family friend, who later became her stepmother after the early death of the child's mother).

His first business was as a merchant in South Brimfield, MA. He later was a merchant in Brimfield, and did some business in Southbridge. He came to Brimfield several years before his father, who came in 1830. His uncle Oliver Wales had a building in Wales for manufacturing wool cloth. After this burned down in 1837 it was rebuilt in 1839 by another uncle James L. Wales, his half-brother John W. Bliss and himself. Royal Wales was named manager of the business and remained as manager for many years. In 1840, the year that his uncle James L. Wales died, the business was named "Wales Manufacturing Company." This mill was sold in 1858.[12] Although Royal Wales was manager of this company in Wales, he and his family continued to live in Brimfield until 1857 when his father died. Then he moved into his father's home in Wales.

> "As a man he was pleasant, social, and gentlemanly: as a business man he was judicious, cautious, discreet and honorable. His moral horizon was clear and bright, with scarce a fleecy cloud, or speck of bedimming vapor, to intercept or obscure the sunny emissions from the soul within. Neither he nor any of the Wales ever sought a gaudy or costly equipage, or any manner of ostentation, nor were any of them sordid or niggardly."[11]

He married Eudotia Melina Hitchcock, daughter of Gad Hitchcock and Keziah Bates, Apr 27, 1828 in Brimfield, MA.[15] Born Dec 29, 1799. Died Aug 6, 1870. Religion Congregational Church. She was known as Melina. It is likely she was the Melina Hitchcock who was a school-mistress in Brimfield, since the name is uncommon.

> "E. Melina was the sister of millionare Samuel Austin Hitchcock of Brimfield. The natural exhalations of her soul were of a vivifying, cheering, joy inspiring character. She was intelligent, sociable, lively, full of pleasantry, affability and kindliness. No tongue unless moistened with the slimy juices of calumniousness, seemingly could annunciate any evil of her..." [Despite her husband's position she appeared] "unostentatiously, always attentive to her own house hold affairs, and not afraid of dirtying her fingers with housework."[11]

Royal Porter Wales and Eudotia Melina Hitchcock had the following children:

547 i. Sarah Winchester Wales
548 ii. Elizabeth Thomas Wales
549 iii. Samuel Austin Wales
550 iv. Royal Porter Wales
551 v. _____ Wales

552 vi. Charlotte Eaton Wales. Born Nov 26, 1837 in Brimfield, MA. Died Feb 19, 1840 of scarlet fever, at or near Brimfield. Buried in Brimfield Center Cemetery.

553 vii. Charlotte Pynchon (or Eaton?) Wales. Born Sep 26, 1842. Baptism Feb 16, 1850[15] in First Congregational Church, Brimfield, MA. Died after 1900 in Boston, MA. She was called "Lottie". She married Myron L. Chamberlain M.D., Sep 23, 1874, a doctor in Boston.

On May 17, 1871, three years after the death of Royal Porter Wales and seven months after his wife died, their three unmarried children, Sarah, Samuel and Charlotte, all moved back to Brimfield. These three were the last of the name Wales to live in the town of Wales, MA.[11]

370. HORATIO WALES. Son of Royal Wales and Ruby Porter. Born Jan 22, 1810 in South Brimfield, MA.[11, 17, 18] Died May 5, 1890 in Polo, IL.[18, 19] Buried May 8, 1890 in Polo, IL. When he was 4 years old the family moved from South Brimfield to Coventry CT, where his mother had been born. The family stayed there for about 15 years and then moved to Brimfield, MA.[17] Horatio Wales had a store in East Brimfield, MA, after his half-brother John Wales Bliss (number 403) had first owned this store.[16]

He married Mary Eliza Williams, daughter of Ebenezer Williams and Elizabeth ("Eliza") Whitwell, Apr 21, 1833 in Brimfield, MA.[16, 17, 18] Mary Eliza Williams was born Jan 22, 1811 in Brimfield, MA.[16, 17, 18] and died Dec 14, 1892 in Polo, IL.[18] She was buried in Polo, IL.

Horatio Wales was one of the pioneers of Ogle County, IL. In 1830 only one cabin had been built in the county.[20] Buffalo Grove was the first settlement in the county, with the first families coming there in 1834. When the first Post Office was established in 1835 there were 15 families in its vicinity.[20] There were only log cabins in the settlement until 1836. Horatio Wales came to Buffalo Grove in the fall of 1836.[17, 19] He built a house of green lumber sawed from hard maple trees that grew on the land. (A saw mill had been established in that area). An article in a Sep. 1937 issue of the Tri-County Press of Polo, IL described the house as a story and a half, an unusual house of purely Colonial type architecture, built by Horatio Wales in 1837. It was moved about a half mile in 1936. It was still used as a residence in 1963 according to a later item.

Family tradition is that Horatio Wales returned to Massachusetts to get his wife and son Charles, who came to Buffalo Grove in the spring of 1837. His wife's brother Chester K. Williams also came in 1837.[22] (C. K. Williams was the postmaster of Buffalo Grove 1849-1853, and later was Mayor of Polo.) In addition her father Ebenezer Williams and all or almost all of her sisters moved west at about this time. The family may have moved as one large group. Her sisters Percy, Lucy and Francis were married in Ogle County, IL in 1839, 1840 and 1847. Lucy and her husband later moved to Elgin, Illinois while Percy and Francis stayed nearby.

Horatio Wales opened the second store in Buffalo Grove (originally called the village of St. Marion) in 1836 in a partnership called Wales, Hun and Co., the "Co." apparently being a Mr. Chandler. In 1838 Horatio Wales was elected the second sheriff of Ogle County and served one term until 1840.[17] A third store opened in 1839. In about 1839 or 1840 Horatio Wales sold his stock. According to his grandson Horatio Wales (#674, 1956 recollections) he had been told that the partner absconded with all of the profits, which ruined the business.

Horatio Wales then purchased a tract of government land and farmed there until he retired.[19] The farm was about one-half mile from Buffalo Grove. In 1832 the Black Hawk War began and Indians had killed a man about one mile west of what is now Polo. He had been carrying a dispatch from Galena to the army on the Rock River.[20] Later generations remembered this death. But Horatio Wales #674 recalled his father (#561) having said that he had been told by his father (Horatio Wales #370) that he never had any trouble with Indians, although sometimes they came around asking for food.

There were about 1000 inhabitants in Buffalo Grove in 1850. After the Illinois Central Railroad acquired a right-of-way about one mile east of Buffalo Grove, people began to move even before the railroad was built. The post office was moved in January 1855 to the new settlement near the railroad. By 1856 population at the new location was about 2500. This town was officially incorporated as Polo on Feb. 16, 1857.

The Horatio Wales family had attended a Congregational church while living in Brimfield. A Congregational church was founded in Buffalo Grove in 1837 and this family attended it. Some divisions arose among those attending this church because of disputes about land claims and other causes. As a result of these problems the Congregational church disbanded May 5, 1848 the same day that some Presbyterians in Buffalo Grove organized the Independent Presbyterian Church. Only two or three of the eleven founding members of the Presbyterian Church came from the Congregational Church. The Presbyterians were aware of the disputes among the Congregational members, and required anyone having difficulties with others to have these settled before being received into membership. The new church also would not receive into membership anyone advocating the rightfulness of slaveholding, or anyone who would not pledge to abstain from making, vending or using intoxicating drinks as a beverage.[21] The church was independent because no Presbyterian denomination had these requirements for membership. One of the eleven charter members was Charlotte Mason, sister of Mary E. Williams, wife of Horatio Wales. Charlotte Williams had married William E. Mason[18] and this family was among the Williams families who moved from Brimfield to Illinois. Her husband was not a charter member of the church.

After the Congregational Church in Buffalo Grove disbanded, the Horatio Wales family and some others from this church began attending the Congregational Church in Elkhorn Creek. This church met in a building that was a combination church and school. Helen Wales Swanson (#676) told Charles Wales (#701) in July of 1967 that she had been told that after about three years of traveling to Elkhorn Creek her grandmother Mary Wales started attending the Independent Presbyterian Church. According to the church history, it had no building at that time. The church originally met in a school house, and later in the Methodist Church. There was great difficulty in deciding whether to build in Buffalo Grove or near the Illinois Central Railroad whose tracks were one mile to the east. The new settlement near the railroad, soon to be incorporated as Polo, was finally chosen as the location. Work began on the site July 1, 1855 but proceeded very slowly because of lack of money. The Presbyterian Church building was finally dedicated Aug. 7, 1857.[21]

Apparently Horatio Wales continued going to the Congregational Church in Elkhorn Creek until 1856 or 1857, and then began attending the Presbyterian Church. If family tradition is correct, his wife Mary had stopped going to Elkhorn Creek several years earlier. Helen Wales Swanson had (in 1967) a paper signed by Horatio Wales dated Jan. 27, 1872, which said that for the past 15 years he had attended at and contributed to the Independent Presbyterian Church of Polo although he was not a member, and he never thought such attendance gave him any right to vote at a meeting for the choice of a minister. Since one minister had left in 1871 and the next was chosen in 1872, this paper may have been a response to dissension over whether non-member supporters of the Presbyterian church should be able to vote on the new minister. The 1886 biographical account of Horatio Wales said his wife was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Polo.[17] The biographical account of his son Horatio(#561) published in 1899 said that the first Horatio (#370) was attending the Congregational church.[19] He apparently never joined the Presbyterian church, although he attended and supported it. It was not until Jan 16, 1918 that the Independent Presbyterian Church of Buffalo Grove and Polo voted to affiliate with the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and change its name to the First Presbyterian Church of Polo.[21]

A surviving letter from Mary Wales, written when she was 42, indicates that life on their farm was hard. She lacked many nice things from her earlier years in Massachusetts. At the time the letter was written she had seven living children: Charles age 18, Royal Porter (whom she called Porter) age 14, Henry age 12, George age 10, Sarah age 4, Mary age 2 and Horatio only four months old. James had died five years earlier at the age of 2. This letter was addressed to a sister who must have been her older sister Lucy, age 43, who had married Virgil Bogue and at that time had four girls aged 12, 10, 8 and 5. Virgil Bogue was then a farmer in Elgin, IL and is presumed to be the "V" mentioned in the letter. The father of Mary Wales and Lucy Bogue was Ebenezer Williams who, to get away from his second wife, at some point moved to Illinois and was living with or near his daughter Lucy. Among others mentioned in this letter was Elisabeth, their youngest sister, aged 26. Elisabeth was married to Daniel Waterbury and had girls aged 4 and 2. Chester was their brother Chester Williams, age 35, who was then postmaster of Buffalo Grove and still single. Charlotte was a sister age 32 who had married William Mason and had girls 7 and 4 and a baby boy either 4 or 16 months old. Frances was a sister aged 29 who had a son aged 4 and a daughter who had died young. The unborn daughter of Frances, who is hinted at, also died young. "H" refers to her husband Horatio Wales. It is no longer known what the law problem was that kept using up their money. It might be related to the store partnership that Horatio Wales had been in, but that is unlikely since it had ended 13 or 14 years earlier. The letter follows.

Buffalo Grove April 3^{d} 1853

My dear Sister

I received your letter a few days ago & intended to have answered it last Sunday, but Elizabeth and Daniel were here with their children, & it was impossible for me to write – – I had often wondered that you did not write to me, as I wrote you last, you seem to think your Sisters do not care any thing about you as they do not write, nor visit you. I know I for one have not been to see you half as often as I should like to, but place yourself in my situation with so many young children as I have, & I do not believe you would do much better that I have done. The fact is I feel as tho I was about worn out, my constitution is broken & my ambition is all gone, we have had so much trouble since we have been in Illinois, & everything we have goes in law & so poor with all the rest, that I have not ambition enough to go away from home. I have not been down street but 3 times since last July. Father wanted I should go & see you last fall but he little knew how miserable I felt, I never worked a summer & fall in such misery, as I did last, I have had such a lame back this winter that it seems as tho I could not do any thing – – I do intend to go & see you this Spring, & if I do not, it will not be my fault – – it has always been my wish to go out there & live, but Horatio says he will not leave here, and have his troubles follow him, says he had rather stay here where every one knows about them, than go among strangers. & so we shall always have to stay, for they will never be settled – Mix. Bogues Lawyer made a pretty strong effort to throw the cases out of Court, but did not suceed, & then he had them put over untill next fall, Heaton thinks there is no trouble but that he can beat Bogue, but it is hard to tell, there is so many crooks & turns in law – – – There seems to be a prospect of two rail roads coming through here, or near here from St. Charles, & if they do, I can get on the Cars & go to see you, most any day – – Our place is improving very fast. A new Grocery & Tin Shop going up between the Meeting House & Mr Funks, & Dr. Burns & Aranda Kellogg, & Robert Collar are each going to build them a house – we had our house about half fixed last fall & I expect we shall not have any thing more done to it for 3 or 4 years to come, I should like to once more, have things as I used to, & not have my house always look like a hog pen, but I never expect to have any thing again – – I have got about 20 #s of rags cut for a Carpet, but I have so much to do, that it [is] impossible to me to find time to cut the balance of my rags, & as for hireing a girl, you may as well set down contented as to try to hire one, I had to get off the bed & go to work, when my babe was not but two weeks old, & it seemed as if I had not strength enough to walk acrost the floor – –

Tuesday afternoon I will try & finish my letter so as to send it out in the mail to night, Horatio sent word to [unknown letter, perhaps V or F for Virgil or father?] about the Seed Corn, by Chester the last time he went to Chicago, he engaged Mr Cavy [Cary?] to save some for him, & he says he dare not risk it, instead of hanging it up he threw it into a barrel, & let it lay & H says he does not believe it will grow, he has inquired of the Same of every one he can think of and can not find a bushel, there [is] great inquiry for it, & none to be had. H says he will shell his & if there is any more than he wants to plant V shall have it, & also some potatoes, how shall we send them, Chester was here Sunday Eve a short time. I ask'd him if he wanted to send any word, he said I might tell you he should be there in two or three weeks, Charlotte['s] baby has got a dreadful breaking out some think it the itch & some think it is not, but they say it is the worst looking child that ever was, it is so perfectly raw, I have not been over there, for I dare not take my children there for fear they would catch it, H saw Mason this morn said he should like to have us come over but we must not bring our children Frances is keeping boarders, she has four regular boarders, & four there to dinner, that eat their breakfast & supper to Higbys I think she must be pretty smart, for she has no help & is expecting to be sick in August – you must keep this to yourself & not let it come back, for she made me promise not to say anything about it – Elisabeth['s] younger child had 5 fits about 3 weeks ago – she did not have a Doctor used nothing but cold water I think if it had died, she would have had some reflection but every one to there notion Henry[?] Hills[?] babe died last night with the Lung Fever. they will feel pretty [bad] for it is the first boy they have had – I suppose you want me to say something about my babe – he is a great blue eyed homely boy – I was thankful enough he was [paper torn here, looks like one or two letters missing and then ow] a girl. I have all the girls I want, the two I have are such crazy things that it seems as tho I could not live in the house with them, they are more mischievious than all my boys put together. Mary is a whole team she will make a worker if she lives for she is working & making now every chance she can get – Porter is down sick with the quinzy has been sick a week, is so bad that it is almost impossible for him to swallow, even water, some one of the children are sick almost all of the time, the babe was sick with a hard cold for nearly a week & I fearful he would have the Lung fever, two nights he was burning up with a high fever but I kept giving him hives[?] Syrup to keep his cold loose & Castor Oil to carry off the plhegm [phlegm] & it cured him – the wind blows this afternoon a perfect gale it seems as if it would tear everything to pieces, – I must stop & send this to the Office or Chester will not mail it, if you can read it you will do well, for it is most impossible for me to see to write or sew, my eye sight is so bad – I am going to get me some glasses as soon as I can find some – I wish I could see you as I have so much I want to say and cannot write – but hope I shall be able to see you after planting but I presume something will turn up to hinder as it always does. Love to Father & all the rest all send love to all your truly

Mary

The 1860 census indicated that the finances of this family did improve.[23] The value of real estate owned by Horatio Wales was $4200, with $1000 personal property. His brothers-in-law William E. Mason and Daniel Waterbury had $4000 and $900, and $4000 and $1000, respectively, for real estate and personal property. In that census area the midpoint in values was about $4,000 for real estate. In 1860 all eight living children were at home. Horatio Wales the father and sons R. P. and Henry were all called farmers. The oldest son Charles E. was listed as a farm laborer. Also living in the house was Eveline Chafy, age 20, born in New York, no occupation given.

Horatio Wales held several minor offices in the township. He moved to Polo in 1876 and sold the farm in 1882.[17] Horatio, Jr. and his two unmarried sisters moved at the same time. Horatio Senior purchased a house in Polo. He was an active and energetic worker for the Republican party.[17] In the 1880 census he was a retired farmer age 70.[24] His wife Mary, age 69, and three unmarried children (Sarah age 30, Mary 28 and Horatio, Jr. 26) were living in this family. Mary the mother was "Keeping House," daughters Sarah and Mary had no given occupation, and Horatio, Jr. was a farmer. In 1886 Sarah and Mary were still living with their parents.[17]

An unidentified newspaper clipping entitled "1883. Wales — Williams. 1883" gives an account of the fiftieth anniversary of the wedding of Horatio Wales and Mary E. Williams. There was a large gathering. All of their children were present except James Lawrence who died young. All of the grandchildren were present except the oldest (Carrie A. Wales, daughter of Royal P. Wales) and the youngest (two-month old Reginald, son of Henry W. Wales). One son-in-law was not present (William Alcorn). Other relatives present included Mrs. J. H. Woodruff, Mrs. E. W. Waterbury and Chester K. Williams, two sisters and a brother of Mary Wales; F. P. Shepherd and Mrs. E. M. Starr, children of two deceased sisters of Mary Wales; and Lizzie Williams, Mrs. Edmund Miller and Amy Williams, three children of her deceased uncle Charles Williams who had moved to Rockford, IL. Congratulatory messages came from Ware, Palmer, Springfield, Worcester and Boston, MA, from New York City, New Haven, CT, and from Oregon, Chicago and Evanston, IL. The invitations were limited to near relatives, except for Mr. C. G. Holbrook of Polo, who had taken tea with the bride and groom 50 years earlier.

The obituary of Horatio Wales (cut from a newspaper, no date) said he had been a silent partner in the firm of C. E. Wales & Co., hardware merchants in Lanark, Ill., for 17 years (since about 1873). This investment in the business of his oldest son is another indication that Horatio Wales had prospered. Apparently his health was poor in his last years since the obituary said: "He was a modest, unassuming man, bore his suffering with Christian fortitude, and has left for his family a most precious legacy — an example worthy of imitation."

554. Charles Ebenezer Wales. Son of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born May 7, 1834 in Brimfield, MA. Died Dec 18, 1912 in Lanark, IL. Buried Dec 20, 1812. He ran C. E. Wales & Co., a hardware store in Lanark, IL. The obituary of his father Horatio Wales (May 1890) said that Horatio Wales had been a silent partner in the firm of C. E. Wales & Co. for 17 years. According to the 1900 census his occupation was hardware, and he owned his home with a mortgage.[25] At age 76 he was listed in the 1910 census as a merchant, retail hardware, working on his own account.[26] He married Marion Emery, Jan 23, 1862. Born Nov 1843 in England, still living in 1910.[26] They had only one child:

665 i. George Horatio Wales

555. Royal Porter Wales, M.D. Son of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born Jul 13, 1838 in Buffalo Grove, IL. Died Jan 1, 1907 in Colorado Springs, CO. Occupation Physician. According to an undated newspaper obituary, he was raised on the family farm until age 18, being educated by the district schools. Then for two years he attended Mt. Carroll Seminary. He then taught school for four months. Then he studied medicine under Dr. Lenard Pratt in Rock Creek Township for three years. The June 1860 census had him living with his parents as a farmer[23] which seems to disagree with this obituary. Perhaps he did not study under Dr. Pratt during the busy farm season. He then took a course in the Homeopathic Medical College at St. Louis, MO., where he graduated in 1861. He then practiced with Dr. Pratt for three and a half years. After this co-partnership was dissolved he moved to Lanark and entered into a partnership with his brother Henry W. Wales in 1864. In 1900 he was living in Mt. Carroll with his wife and two daughters.[27]

He owned property in Lanark and also was half-owner of 860 acres of land, 751½ acres being in Benton County, IA and 108½ acres in Carroll County, IL. He was a Republican, and a member of Masonic Lodge No. 423 at Lanark, Chapter 139, and Freeport Commandery No. 7, K. T. In the summer of 1905 Dr. Porter Wales and his family moved to Colorado, where he died 1½ years later.

He married Anna E. Belding, daughter of Daniel Belding and Harriet Black, Jun 22, 1863.[18] Born Jun 22, 1845 in Bradford County, PA. Died May 30, 1908 in Colorado Springs, CO. Buried in Evergreen Cemetery, Colorado Springs, CO. According to a newspaper obituary, Anna Wales died of pneumonia at the family residence, 1619 North Cascade Avenue, Colorado, Springs. Her two daughters were with her at the time. The 1900 census[27] gave different birthdates for all four members of this family from what is given in family records.[18] Since Marion Wales (number 667) had this family record in her possession for many years it is hard to see why she would not have changed the dates for herself, sister and parents if they had all been wrong. This census had Royal P. Wales born May 1838, Anna E. born April 1840, Albertine C. born March 1863 and Marion born May 1866.

Royal Porter Wales and Anna E. Belding had the following children:

666 i. Carrie Albertine Wales. Born Feb 16, 1865. Died Jan 28, 1944. Never married. She was called Albertine C. Wales in the 1900 census.[27]

667 ii. Marion Porter Wales

556. Henry Whitwell Wales, M.D. Son of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born Jun 17, 1840 in Buffalo Grove, IL. Died Oct 6, 1905 in Walters Park Sanitarium, PA. Buried Oct 10, 1905 in Lanark, IL. As a boy he lived on the farm and attended the common district school in the winter only, working on the farm during the summer months. At age 16 he entered Mt. Carroll seminary which he attended for two years. He then taught the Kinkade district school one term. Then he entered the office of Dr. Burbank of Polo to study medicine. He also took one term in a medical college in St. Louis. During the Civil War he enlisted in the 92nd Illinois Regiment. While in camp at Rockford he was detailed in the Mound City hospital in charge of several wards under a doctor. After one year he was discharged due to ill health. He reentered the office of Dr. Burbank. Then he took a course and graduated from the Hahnemann Medical College of

Chicago. He then practiced medicine with Dr. Burbank and also at Forreston. (The above was based on an obituary, probably from a Lanark newspaper.)

The Polo Press Aug. 29-Sep. 19, 1863 editions all had an advertisement:

> J. C. Burbank M.D. H. W. Wales M.D. Burbank & Wales. Homeopathic Physicians and surgeons, office at residence of Dr. Burbank on Franklin St. Polo.

The obituary said that after this he moved in November 1864 to Lanark and was associated with his brother Dr. Porter Wales. He continued medical practice up to a few months from his death. He was an exemplary physician. No other physician in the immediate counties had a greater practice from far and near than Dr. Henry Wales. For 40 years he answered calls day and night through heat, cold, sleet and snow. He never refused to come no matter how far the patient lived from town. He only took one vacation, a month away from practice in 1891. He died in the Walters Park sanitarium in the Pennsylvania mountains.

In the 1900 census of Lanark he owned his home free of mortgage. The only child with them at this time was Percy, age 17.[28]

He married Elizabeth "Lizzie" Muir, Nov 8, 1865. Born Jul 15, 1847 in New York. Died Apr 15, 1919. Buried in Lanark Cemetery, Lanark, IL.[38] She was the daughter of John Muir and Emeline Lewis. They had the following children:

668 i. Albert Harold Wales, M.D.

669 ii. Frederick Muir Wales. Born May 20, 1870. Died Apr 11, 1926. Buried in Lanark Cemetery, Lanark, IL.[38] Occupation dentist in Chicago in 1905. He married Claire Towne. Born Aug 21, 1879, died Feb 9, 1933. Buried in Lanark Cemetery, Lanark, IL.[38]

670 iii. Henry Whitwell "Harry" Wales Jr.

671 iv. Reginald Purcell "Percy" Wales

557. George Marshall Wales. Son of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born Dec 9, 1843 in Buffalo Grove, IL. Died Jan 16, 1932 in Lanark, IL.[18] Buried Jan 19, 1932 in Lanark Cemetery.

His early boyhood was on the family farm at Buffalo Grove. He was present at the Lincoln-Douglas Debate in Freeport, and attended the anniversary 50 years later. He attended Frances Shimer School at Mt. Carroll, IL and Aurora Seminary at Aurora, IL. After this he studied dentistry. He practiced at Sterling, IL for a short time and then returned to the farm because of ill health. About 1878 he came to Lanark and was in hardware business with his brother Charles (number 554). After his first wife died he spent several months in Florida, before returning to Lanark. During the late 1890's he was immigration agent for the Northern Pacific railroad and made many trips to the Dakotas. In the 1900 census of Lanark his occupation was landlord.[29] He owned his home free of mortgage. In 1913 he entered the coal business with his son George Marshall Wales, Jr.

He was active in the civic and business life of Lanark. He served two terms as Mayor. He was president of the Cemetery Board. He aided in the organization of the Mt. Carroll Mutual Fire Insurance Co. He aided in establishing the Lanark Canning Co. and served as a director. Most of the above information comes from his newspaper obituary.

He first married Vienna Frelick, Feb 25, 1880. Born May 23, 1853 in Danube, N.Y. Died Jan 7, 1890 in Mt, Carroll, IL. They had no children. He second married Julia A. Champion, daughter of John Champion and Chloe, Jul 1892. Born Oct 1863 in Illinois.[29] Died 1926. They had the following children:

672 i. George Marshall Wales Jr. Born Aug 1894 in Illinois.[29] He married Bertha _____.

673 ii. Althea Champion "Betty" Wales

559. Sarah Elizabeth Wales. Daughter of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born Jun 9, 1848 in Buffalo Grove, IL. Died Feb 13, 1917 in Orlando, FL. Buried Feb 18, 1917 in Fairmount Cemetery, Polo, IL. She never married. According to her obituary she spent her entire life in the vicinity of Polo. In the last six years of her life her health was failing. She and her sister Mary went to Orlando, FL. in the winter. Early in January 1917 they went there again in the hope that a milder climate might restore her strength. She improved slightly but then was taken ill very suddenly with acute indigestion and heart complications early in the morning of Feb. 13 and died at 11:30 a.m.

560. Mary Eliza Wales. Daughter of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born Nov 1, 1850 in Buffalo Grove, IL. Died Oct 14, 1928 in the Washington, DC apartment of her nephew Dr. Horatio Wales Jr. (number 674) where she was making a long visit. She had a stroke the night before she died. She was buried in Polo, IL. She never married. In the 1880 census she still lived with her parents.[24] In the 1900 census[31] and 1910 census[32] she and her sister Sarah lived together. They owned their home without any mortgage.

Merle Wales, wife of Dr. Horatio Wales, Jr., told Charles Wales (author of this genealogy) that Mary and Sarah Wales had been living on the income from investments. After the stock market crash in 1929 these investments became worthless, or close to worthless. Mary and Sarah Wales would have had no income if they had still been living. Merle Wales also said the will of Mary Wales gave her house to her nephew Dr. Horatio Wales, Jr. This house was diagonally across the street from her brother (number 561) Horatio's house in Polo. The house brought only $3000 when sold, due to the hard times.

561. Horatio Wales. Son of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born Nov 27, 1852 in Buffalo Grove, IL.[17, 18, 19] Baptism in Polo, IL. He fell Sep 26, 1937 and broke his hip. He was bedridden after this, and died at his home on West Mason St., Polo, IL Dec 29, 1937.[18] Buried Dec 31, 1937 in Fairmount Cemetery, Polo, IL.

Horatio Wales attended district schools near his home and public schools in Polo until he was 18.[19] It is believed his teachers included John Burroughs (who taught a term in 1856-57 at the Buffalo Grove school and later became a famous naturalist) and also Sara Hackett Stevenson, later the first woman to become a member of the American Medical Association. At age 18 he rented land from his father in Buffalo Grove and continued farming until 1882.[19] After he quit farming he moved to Polo.

He became a dealer in agricultural implements in Polo. According to Reference (17) the firm of H. Wales & Co. was established Jan. 1, 1885, and dealt in all kinds of farm machinery, windmills, pumps, etc. According to Reference (19) as his business gradually increased he enlarged his store until in 1899 it occupied a commodious warehouse and office on the principal business street of Polo. In 1899 he dealt in all kinds of agricultural implements, buggies, wagons, windmills, and steam heating apparatus. He was described as an ardent supporter of the Republican party, and had served as chairman of the township Republican committee.[19] He was then a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellow and the Knights of the Globe.

According to the 1900 census[33] Horatio Wales was an implement dealer. He owned his home free of mortgage. This was a large house that he had built in 1892 for his marriage. He was instrumental in securing Polo's first sewage plant, which opened in 1906. He was mayor of Polo in 1906 to 1909 and perhaps at other times. The 1910 census[34] has his occupation as President, Telephone Co. That may have been in addition to his agricultural business. In 1910 he was a widower with three children. In 1920 only he and his daughter Helen were in the house.[35] No profession was listed. In 1963 his daughter Helen Wales Swanson said that the warehouse (as it was called) where he sold farm implements had a wooden-floored place in its basement where people roller skated using skates that had wooden rollers and wooden frames. A 1933 newspaper clipping described him as the oldest Polo resident who was also born in Buffalo Township.

Horatio Wales married Emma Jane Spear, daughter of Joseph Lybrand Spear and Mary Elizabeth Carpenter, on Thursday Jan 12, 1893 in the home of her father Capt. Joseph L. Spear in Polo, IL.[18, 19] Born May 22, 1866 in Polo, IL.[18] Baptism in Polo, IL. Died Mar 3, 1909 in Polo, IL.[18] Buried Mar 5, 1909 in Fairmount Cemetery, Polo, IL. Horatio Wales told Emma Spear that she could have either an engagement ring or a piano for her engagement, according to their granddaughter Betty Swanson (708). She chose a piano, which was still in the house in 1998.

The following comes mostly from two obituaries and from the account of her wedding. Emma Spear graduated from Polo High School in 1885. She studied music locally, and in the Chicago Musical College under Dr. Ziegfield (father of Flo. Ziegfield), completing the course. She was an accomplished pianist. In 1888 she appeared at the opening of the Polo Opera House, known as Buffalo Town Hall. She was raised as a Methodist. She was organist at the Methodist church in Polo for many years, also teaching a class in the Sunday School. On her wedding day Emma Spear was dressed in white and carried white roses. Horatio Wales wore the conventional black. The wedding was followed by a "sumptious" (newspaper spelling) wedding supper. The wedded pair then took the 6:50 train to Chicago where they spent a few days. Then they returned to the new house that Horatio Wales had built at the corner of Mason and Fulton streets in Polo. After her marriage she transferred to the Independent Presbyterian Church, often playing the organ at this church.

She shared in the interests of her children, in their sports, schoolwork and music. Her two young sons (Horatio and Frank) were often asked to play the cornet and violin in public. Their mother often played the accompaniment. During her later years she suffered a great deal with one eye. She had a detached retina. Then she had a tumor on the optic nerve. This eye was removed and she used a glass eye according to her daughter, Helen Wales Swanson. She began to fall about three weeks before her death at age 42. The diagnosis was a brain tumor. At the time of her death her children were 15, 13 and 11. The two newspaper clippings on her death both mention the suffering connected with her illness, her musical talent, and the time she gave especially to church organizations.

Horatio Wales and Emma Spear had the following children:

674 i. Horatio Wales, Jr., Dr.
675 ii. Frank Spear Wales
676 iii. Helen Marcia Wales

562. Ida May Wales. Daughter of Horatio Wales and Mary Eliza Williams. Born Mar 5, 1855 in Buffalo Grove, IL. Died Mar 8, 1910. She married William H. Alcorn, son of John L. Alcorn & Mary, Oct 8, 1875 in Chicago, IL. Born 1852/1853 in Pennsylvania. This family lived with his parents in the village of Buffalo, IL in 1880.[36] Only their first child Harry was listed in this census. Also living with the parents of William Alcorn in this household were another married son with his wife and two children, an unmarried son and an unmarried daughter, for a total of 11 people. William and Ida Alcorn lived in Plano, IL in 1886.[17] They had the following children:[18]

Tenth Generation

665. George Horatio Wales. Son of Charles Ebenezer Wales and Marion Emery. Born Oct 6, 1872 in Illinois.[18] According to the 1900 census he was a music teacher in Lanark, IL and was renting a house.[25] The dwelling number listed in the census is one less than that of his parents, so the house was probably next door or across the street. This couple had been married eight years according to the census, which if true means that the marriage date of Dec. 14, 1892 given in family information[18] is wrong. He married Vine Snow. Born Jan 1871 in Illinois. They had only the following child:[25, 37]

692 i. Charles Emery Wales.

667. Marion Porter Wales. Daughter of Royal Porter Wales, M.D., and Anna E. Belding. Born Aug 22, 1867. Died Jul 2, 1960 in Orange, CA. Buried in Fairhaven Mausoleum, Orange, CA. Marion Wales never married.

She gathered a large amount of family history. Marion Wales visited England in searching for facts about ancestors. She was the source of much of the information given in this genealogy of the Wales family concerning people who married into the family for the period of about 1890 to 1940. In a letter to her cousin Helen Wales Swanson (number 676), probably written in the 1940's, she said: "You are eligible for Daughters of Founders & Patriots on the Wales line and for Women Descendants of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery on the Williams line along with others.....The Wales line should take us into the Colonial Dames too but I have never cared enough about that to spend all the money it takes for dues to say nothing of the high initiation fee. I belong to the Magna Carta Dames which means a lot more anyway." She prepared an application for the D.A.R. for Helen Swanson, based on service of Oliver Wales (number 112). Marion Wales also sent a copy of an Affidavit which she had put on file in Washington D.A.R. headquarters. This Affidavit N. S. D. A. R. No. 247,838 concerned papers relating to the town of Union, CT, that several times mentioned military service of Oliver Wales.[13, 14]

In 1953 Marion Wales broke her hip, which never knit. Her eyesight gradually failed. After she went blind, or was nearly blind, she sent some of the results of her research and the family record book[18] to Helen Wales Swanson, who later let Charles Wales copy this material.

668. Albert Harold Wales, M.D. Son of Henry Whitwell Wales, M.D., and Elizabeth "Lizzie" Muir. Born Aug 25, 1866 in Lanark, IL. Died May 19, 1942 in Santa Monica, CA. Buried in Lanark Cemetery, Lanark, IL.[38] He graduated from the Chicago Homeopathic Medical College in 1888. He got an M.D. from the Rush College of Medicine in Chicago in 1894.

He married Linnie Sperry, Jun 21, 1895. She was born Jun 30, 1870, died Jan. 20, 1961, and was buried in Lanark Cemetery, Lanark, IL.[38] Daughter of Lyman Lewis Sperry and Leora Hedges.

Dr. A. H. Wales practiced in Chicago until 1905. Then, after the death of his father, he returned to Lanark, IL and took over the medical practice of his father. In July 1918 he was called up from the army reserves and served as captain in the U.S. army medical corps. He was honorably discharged in June 1919. He and his wife then moved to Winnetka, IL where he practiced medicine until he retired in 1937. They moved to West Palm Beach, FL briefly, and then to Santa Monica, CA where he died. (The above information was mostly supplied in 1998 by their grandson Robert Bruce Cutler, number 712.)

Late in his life Dr. Albert H. Wales wrote the following undated letter to his two daughters:

ALBERT H. WALES
522 CENTER STREET
WINNETKA, ILLINOIS

Dear Dorothea and Virginia:

Life being a slender thread and death inevitable, should I check out during the absence of your mother, spare her by having final rites at once. My wish is that it be a family affair with cremation at Graceland where ashes can remain until such time as it is convenient to remove them to the tomb of my ancestors. My idea of a service would be to have it much the same as was done for your Uncle Harry.

Your mother's health has always been frail and her ambition consuming, and she has always been my first thought. I feel that I can ill afford to leave her in her declining years when she needs me most. In a financial way, I think she is provided to the extent that she may enjoy the comforts of life & independence, but she will very much need you for moral support and I know we, both, can count on that.

My family has been a source of pride and great comfort to me and, as far as my life is concerned, I have nothing to complain.

With love and best wishes to you all from your affectionate father.

Albert H. Wales

A copy of the above letter was supplied by his grandson George D. Bushnell (number 713) in 1998.

693 i. Dorothea Leslie Wales
694 ii. Virginia Wales

670. Henry Whitwell "Harry" Wales Jr. Son of Henry Whitwell Wales, M.D., and Elizabeth "Lizzie" Muir. Born Oct 8, 1875. Died Mar 2, 1934. Buried in Lanark Cemetery, Lanark, IL.[38] Occupation attorney. In 1905 he was private secretary to a Chicago judge. He married Mabelle Willett, Jun 19, 1901. Born Feb 14, 1879, died May 25, 1939. Buried in Lanark Cemetery, Lanark, IL.[38] They had the following children:[18]

695 i. Henry Whitwell Wales III
696 ii. Robert Willett Wales. He married Solace Huntington.
697 iii. Elizabeth Marcia Wales

671. Reginald Purcell "Percy" Wales. Son of Henry Whitwell Wales, M.D., and Elizabeth "Lizzie" Muir. Born Feb 15, 1883. Occupation corresponding clerk, Montgomery Ward, Chicago, IL in 1905. He married Evelyn Burchett. They had the following child:[18]

673. Althea Champion "Betty" Wales. Daughter of George Marshall Wales and Julia Champion. Born Sep 8, 1899 in Lanark, IL. Died about 1945. Lived in Columbus, MS in 1932. She married David Wilbur Knepper, Jun 18, 1924. Born Jun 18, 1899 in Manchester, IN. He was called Wilbur. They adopted the following child:[18]

699 i. Betty Wales Knepper. Born Jun 18, 1937 in Chicago, IL.

674. Horatio Wales Jr., Dr. Son of Horatio Wales and Emma Jane Spear. Born Feb 12, 1894 in Polo, IL. Died Oct 17, 1959 in Bethesda,MD. Buried in Rockville, MD. Religion Presbyterian. In his youth he played the cornet at various functions. For example, later in the year that his mother died the program for a benefit concert given by pupils of the Polo High School at the Opera House on Wednesday, Nov 24, 1909 for the Cherry Mine disaster sufferers included a cornet solo Columbia by Robinson, played by Horatio Wales. On the same program his brother Frank played a violin solo Neopolitan Serenade by Severn. The program for the Durley – Perkins Patriotic Memorial Services given in Polo on Thursday, May 19, 1910 (under the auspices of the Polo Historical Society and the Daughters of the American Revolution) included services at Durley's grave where Horatio Wales gave the Assembly Call and at the end played Taps. He graduated from Polo High School in 1910.

He studied chemistry at Amherst College in Massachusetts and graduated in 1915. Then he did graduate work in physical chemistry at Columbia University in New York City where he received an MA degree in 1917 and a Ph.D. degree in 1918. He was a Mason. While attending Columbia University he was a member of a lodge in Brooklyn, NY. During World War I he worked at an ammunition factory at Perth Amboy, NJ. A motor cycle driver's license No. 9249 was issued by the State of New Jersey to Horatio Wales of Amatol, NJ on Sep 26, 1918. He moved to Washington, DC in 1919. He worked first for the U.S. Dept. of Agriculture Color Laboratory, Bureau of Chemistry from 1919 to 1927 or 1928.

He married Merle Mae Cramer, daughter of Everett C. Cramer and Mattie Edna Wilson, Oct 26, 1920 in Freeport, IL. Born May 22, 1896 in Lake Mills, WI. When she was about ten years old she was adopted by Oliver G. Owens, second husband of Mattie E. Wilson. Then her name was changed to Merle M. Owens and the family lived in Tonica, Freeport and Polo, IL. She died Mar 1, 1991 in Braddock Heights, MD and was buried in Rockville, MD. She graduated from Polo High School in 1915. It was always an annoyance to her that she had to go to high school one extra year because Polo would not give credit for any course from the Freeport High School that Polo did not teach. She worked for a time in the office of a Polo firm that picked feathers out of chickens before shipping them in ice to other places. From about 1918 to 1920 she worked in an office of a foundry of Independent Harvester in Plano, IL (later part of International Harvester).

After their marriage in 1920, the family lived in Washington, DC for almost 16 years at several different addresses. In 1926 they were living at 1840 Vernon St., N.W. About 1929 or 1930 they moved to 3511 Davenport St., apartment 509, where they had a two bedroom apartment in a building located at the corner of Connecticut Ave. and Davenport St. In late August 1936 the family moved to a new house at 130 N. Chelsea Lane, Bethesda, MD. This house was renumbered 4621 in October 1941. They were still living there when Horatio Wales died in 1959.

Dr. Horatio Wales had many publications in scientific journals in the 1920's and early 1930's. For example, The Journal of Industrial and Engineering Chemistry volume 14, pages 317-318 (1922) had an article (which they received Nov. 28, 1921) "Naphthalenesulfonic acids. IV. Solubilities of some amino salts of naphthalenesulfonic acids." The author was H. Wales, Associate Chemist (Physical), Color Investigation Laboratory, U.S. Bureau of Chemistry, Washington, DC. His working address had changed to Drug Control Laboratory, Food, Drug and Insecticide Administration, Washington, DC when Journal of the Association of Official Agricultural Chemistry in volume 11 pages 396-398 (1928) published "The Yeast Method for Silver Proteins" by H. Wales.

He is listed in American Men of Science the sixth edition 1938, seventh edition 1944, eighth edition 1949, and ninth edition 1955. According to biographical information in these he was with the U.S. Department of Agriculture 1919-1928 as Associate Chemist. Then in 1928 the Food and Drug Administration was separated from the Department of Agriculture (although he continued to work in the same building) and his title was Chemist, Chemistry Section, Drug Division. In 1938 he was attached to the commissioner's office. Many people from drug companies who came to Washington to tell their troubles to the Food and Drug Administration, or to complain about some ruling, saw Dr. Horatio Wales. In 1940 his title was Chemist, Interstate Division, Food and Drug Administration. From 1949 to 1951 he was Food and Drug Officer. Then in 1951, after almost 32 years with the Food and Drug Administration and its predecessor agency in the U.S. Department of Agriculture, he joined the Federal Trade Commission as assistant to the Chief of the Division of Medical Opinion. Here he was scientific adviser to the legal staff on fraudulent advertising of food, drugs and cosmetics.

He was an active amateur musician, playing French horn in many organizations in the Washington DC area. He was a member of the Masonic Shrine Band in Washington, DC. A newspaper photograph of this small band of about 30 to 32 persons shows them marching in the Feb 22, 1922 parade when the George Washington Masonic Memorial was dedicated in Alexandria, VA during the bicentennial of George Washington's birth. A June 1925 photograph shows this band in the Shrine parade in Atlantic City, NJ. He ceased being an active Mason after moving to Bethesda, MD. When the Department of Agriculture Orchestra played and the concerts were reviewed in a newspaper in the 1930's he was several times mentioned for his excellent horn playing. Over the years he also played in the Washington Civic Symphony, the War Production Board Symphony, the Arlington Symphony (in Virginia), and the Montgomery County Symphony (in Maryland). He often played in a woodwind quintet that met in members' homes.

Merle Wales was active in many volunteer projects. During and after the Second World War she volunteered at the Selective Service System local draft board. For over 15 years she was active at the Thrift Shop in Bethesda, MD on behalf of the Suburban Hospital in Bethesda. This included time spent on the board that managed the Thrift Shop, and being their bookkeeper.

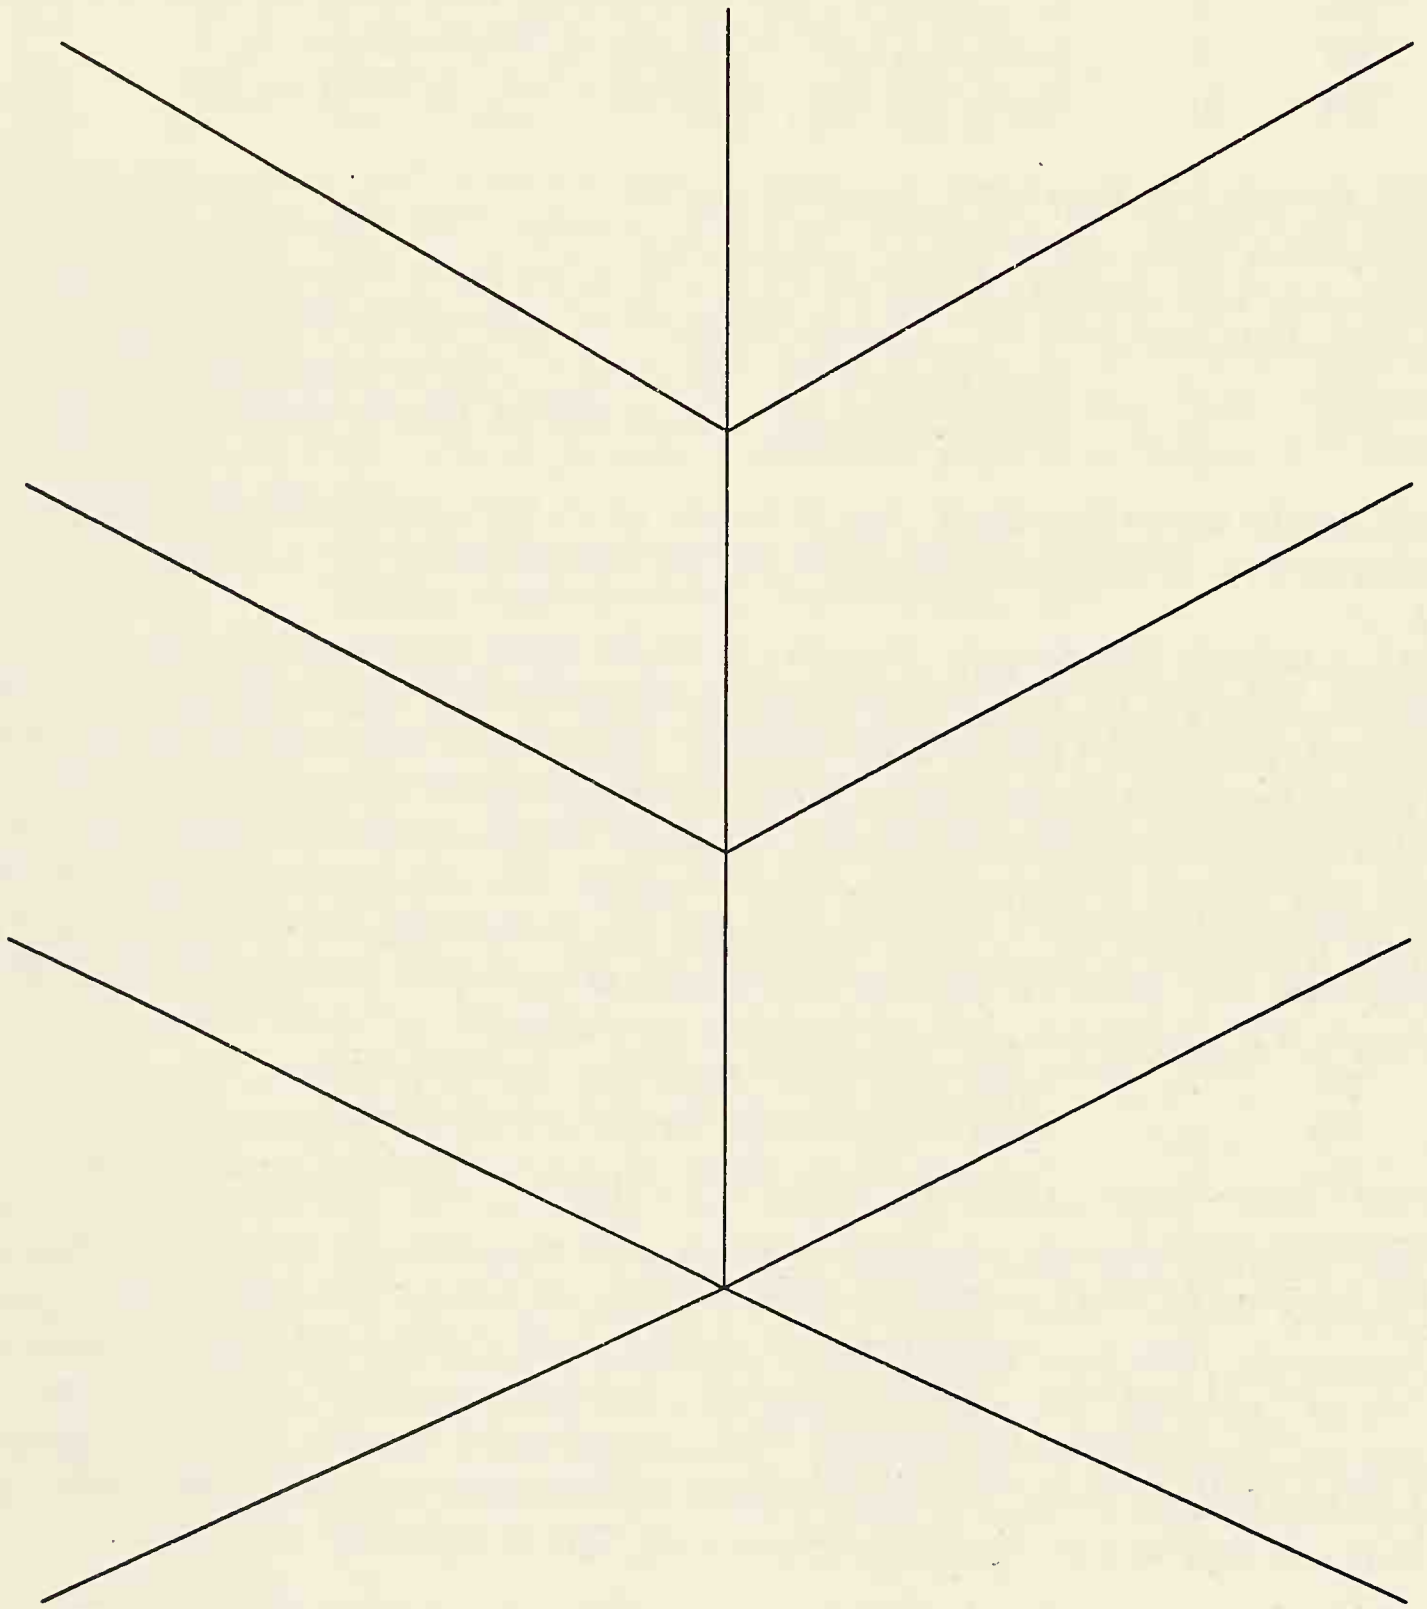
Appendix – The Record Book of the Williams and Hopkins Families

This old handwritten record book had families listed in the following way, using as many lines for children as was necessary.



The parents' names were given above the lower two lines, which slant downward. The children were listed on the lines that slant upward. Below each line were the birth and death dates, and for children it often told who they married. At the bottom of the page the place where the family lived was often given, but sometimes this was the place of marriage. Only rarely was any additional information given on a family, but sometimes there might be a single line like "A farmer in (some town)." The beginning of this old record book said:

> The form of this Genealogical book was first made in April 1782 by Samuel Hopkins 3rd, and proposed by him to be kept by each of his brothers and sisters. It was enlarged by John Hopkins in 1809.
> The author of this plan was educated at Yale College, where he graduated. In 1777 he studied Physic with Dr. Mather of Westfield Mass., established himself in his profession at Newbury, [Pt.? =Port?] where he remained one and a half years, in good business, until when on a visit to see his sister at Newbury Port he engaged himself to go as Surgeon, and Physician of a letter of Marque to the West Indies, with a view to improve himself in his profession, by visiting the Hospitals in Europe, as well as to improve his education.
> He left Newbury Port for the last time May 22nd 1782, first went to Surinam in South America, from thence to Martinico, where he was taken with the yellow fever, and, after three days sickness, died July 11th, 1782.

The mother of this Samuel and John Hopkins was Sarah Porter (1726-1774) who first married Rev. Chester Williams (1718-1754) and had five children. She married second Rev. Samuel Hopkins (1728-?) and had nine additional children. These 14 were the brothers and sisters mentioned in the above quotation. This record book lists the children of 11 of these brothers and sisters but usually has nothing on the following generations. The exception is Rev. Nehemiah Williams (1749-1796) a son of Sarah Porter and Chester Williams, and the third pastor of the church in Brimfield, MA. Children, grandchildren and some great-grandchildren are given for Nehemiah Williams. Among his grandchildren was Mary Eliza Williams who married Horatio Wales (number 370).

Several types of ink and handwriting were used in this old record book. The first 40 families were listed in a single type of ink. Relatively few dates for these 40 families were later than 1860. These latest dates were 1870, 1872, 1874 and 1876, each date appearing only once. The use of a single type of ink for the first 40 families strongly suggests that these records were copied from an earlier source by one person over a relatively short time. Later pages of the "Williams and Hopkins" record book were written by several other people to cover descendants of Ebenezer Williams (1777-1856). He was a son of Rev. Nehemiah Williams and the father of Mary Eliza Williams mentioned above. This book must have passed through several generations. By the twentieth century only descendants of Horatio Wales, the emigrant to Illinois, were given. So the book became a source of much information on the Wales family in Illinois, and its descendants.

It is likely that Marion Wales was the last person to make entries in this record book. At some late date many pages had headings added which relate to Ebenezer Williams. Typical headings are "E. Williams' Grandparents, Father's side", "E. Williams' Aunt" and "E. Williams' cousins."
